Alberta Parties Launch August Election Campaigns

Alberta political parties moved their election campaigns into high gear this week as the August 5 general election drew closer with all signs pointing to a down-to-the-wire fight.

HARPER PROWSE

... Opposition Leader

New Extension Being Added To Ed. Hawirko's Store

LAC LA BICHE—Ed Hawirko only opened his new building for his new and second-hand business in Lac la Biche on April 15th, but already it is found much too small to handle the volume of business coming to the store.

Consequently, workmen are now busy building a 16'x50' extension to the back of the store. Ed, who is one of the town's younger business men, says he hopes to give even better service, with a still wider range of merchandise, when the new part is ready for use, probably late in the summer.

Election Officers Are Appointed In Lac La Biche Constituency

LAC LA BICHE—Elmer Plamondon has been appointed returning officer for this constituency with George Franchuk, election clerk, and "Hec" McCormick, Lac la Biche, assistant.

Harry Lobay, MLA, and Social Credit candidate, stated that as soon as the Proclamation of Election Writ is released deputy returning officer and enumerators will be appointed.

A room in the Lac la Biche school has been rented for the use of the election officials from now until the final election results have been polled and tabulated and election of the successful candidate announced.

Hudson's Bay Official Appointed C.D. Director

E. H. Martin, of the Hudson's Bay Co., at Lac la Biche, has been appointed director of civil defence for the town of Lac la Biche.

This was announced in Alberta Civil Defence Circular No. 42 in June.

At the beginning of this week 121 candidates were in the field for the 61 legislative seats at stake.

Activity locally is on a par with activity throughout the rest of the province. All parties have either held nominating meetings or are planning to do so in the near future.

Premier E. C. Manning's Social Credit government, seeking its fifth consecutive mandate from the voters, will encounter its main opposition from the resurgent Liberal party. Liberals will contest every seat in the province. A lesser number of candidates will be put up by the C.C.F.

In addition, the recently re-organized Progressive Conservatives will put up about 20 candidates, and a handful of independent and communist candidates will be in the field.

Election No Surprise

Premier Manning's announcement June 28 that an election would be held August 5 came as no surprise in political circles. Election dates had been bandied about since the last session of the legislature this spring, and it was expected the Social Credit government would go to the people in August.

Nomination date will be Tuesday, July 22. About 200 candidates are expected to contest the election.

Standing at dissolution of the last legislature, which had only 57 seats, was: Social Credit, 50; Liberal, 3; C.C.F., 2; Ind. S.C., 2.

The new legislature, being enlarged by four members, will see two more members from Edmonton, one more from Calgary, and one from the new constituency of Bonnyville.

In the 1948 election, Social Credit elected 52 candidates. But two members later declared themselves Independent Social Crediters, an Independent joined the government, but the government lost the by-election in Graveland to a Liberal candidate.

In the 1948 election, the total vote by parties, was: Social Credit, 164,003; C.C.F., 56,387; Liberal, 52,665; Independent, 9,014; Independent Citizens Association, 3,969; Labor, 3,579; Ind. S.C., 2,958; Labor Progressive, 1,372; United Labor, 856. Total vote was 249,793. Voting is expected to set a record in Alberta this time, as it is expected over 300,000 votes will be cast.

The Social Credit government will contest the election on its record of "good government." In addition, new planks in the party platform offer a voluntary hospital insurance scheme to supplement the "dollar a day" hospital plan; the spending of $100,000,000 to improve highways in the next five years; and a new municipal assistance program.

Reform Forgotten

Monetary reform and Social Credit theories will play no part in the S.C. campaign. A big change has come over the Social Credit party since its election in the thirties, and the parties reform theories were shoved to the back seat during war-time prosperity and the present oil boom. In fact, internal struggles over party policies have resulted in several S.C. members of the legislature being expelled from the Social Credit league.

Members such as R. E. Ansley of Leduc, A. V. Boucier of Lac Ste. Anne, and Arthur Wray of Banff-Cochrane, were expelled when they opposed the dropping of original Social Credit theories. The Manning administration is now regarded by many as a "conservative" government.

The Liberal party, reorganized in the past few years under the leadership of Harper Prowse, promises to "present to the voters not only a slate of candidates of the highest calibre but a positive program which can open the door to a period of unprecedented prosperity and industrial expansion and development throughout the province."

Many of the Liberal candidates will be men who have already shown their popularity through election to such posts as mayors and members of municipal councils.

A major issue in the Liberal campaign will be opposition to natural gas export. The Liberals carried on an all-out fight in the legislature to prevent loss of one of Alberta's most precious natural resources, but were voted down by what the Liberals call the Social Credit "steam-roller."

Local Policies

Liberal Leader Prowse said he did not think recent reverses suffered by the Liberals in other provinces would have any effect on the Alberta election. He pointed out that provincial political parties are separate groups from province to province, with success depending on local conditions, issues and policies.

The C.C.F., again contesting the election under the leadership of E. E. Roper of Edmonton, will offer as major planks in their platform state health insurance and automobile insurance, rural electrification, greater assistance to municipalities, and opposition to gas export.

This unemployment has not resulted from a decrease in textile purchases but from increased imports of cheap goods.

Sixteen Air Passengers And Crew Find Haven At Lac La Biche

By T. W. PUE

LAC LA BICHE—Wednesday evening of last week a big two-motored silver aircraft of the Canadian Pacific Airlines fleet briefly circled the town and landed at the Lac La Biche Airport.

The reason for this unscheduled landing, and consequent overlay of 16 passengers and three crew members for Wednesday night and part of Thursday was a broken cylinder head which cut out one of the motors. Normally the CPA flies between McMurray and Edmonton over the Wandering River district, but when engine trouble developed an hour's flying time out of Edmonton on the south-bound trip it was decided to put in at Lac la Biche rather than attempting to carry on on only one motor and risk the possibility of not making a safe landing at Edmonton.

Captain Jack Chambers and co-pilot Bob Hammond were loud in their praise of the Lac la Biche airport. They said they were surprised, not only at the size and accommodation of the airport area but gratified that it was in such good condition. This was a "bouquet" for airport manager Ben Rizzoli.

Doreen Flynn, capable and attractive CPA stewardess, who is also a registered nurse, said that when the need of a forced landing became known to her she was immediately concerned for the comfort of her 16 passengers, including a patient en route to the city for medical attention. However, upon arrival here Miss Flynn found St. Catherine's Hospital able and ready to take care of her patient-passenger, and all other passengers found haven at the Lac la Biche hotel, in modern, comfortable rooms.

Crew members expressed the view that the airport here is quite capable of handling regular north-bound and south bound flights of Canadian Pacific Airlines passenger planes. Perhaps if the local Board of Trade were to make representations to officials of the Airline they could arrange to have CPA include Lac la Biche on the regular daily schedule. It would put passengers within 30 minutes of Edmonton, compared to 5½ hours by bus and 6½ by train.

FIRST CLASS BASEBALL PLAYED AT LAC LA BICHE SPORTS DAY, JULY 3

Ball fans here were treated to a series of sparkling baseball games on Thursday, July 3, that they will long remember.

Rained out here on July 1, the tournament was postponed to July 3, and although the attendance was far short of the usual July 1 crowd that is seen here, the tournament was for the books.

Game 1: Briereville vs Lac la Biche

Lac la Biche took an early lead and by the end of the fifth it appeared that it was all over but the shouting, when suddenly in the last of the seventh, Briereville was right in there with four runs in, the bases loaded and two away. With the ball game riding with every pitch, we from Lac la Biche heaved a sigh of relief when the last batter struck out. Score, Lac la Biche 7, Briereville 4.

Game 2

Grassland failed to appear and their game was forfeited to Wandering River. This play time was given to the Juniors who treated the fans to a beautiful game against the Caslan Juniors. The Juniors gave the fans a wonderful exhibition with Caslan the winners of first money.

Game 3: Boyle vs. Plamondon

Boyle took an early lead only to have Plamondon duplicating Briereville's feat of putting four runs across with the bases loaded and one man away. Any hit then would have won the game, but Plamondon was unable to come through the last inning.

Game 4:

Lac la Biche vs. Amber Valley

This was a hard fought game, Lac la Biche managed to squeeze in four runs, holding the Amber Valley Club to 0. The final inning again held the dynamite. Amber Valley got three runners on, two away and their home run king to bat. What a game! Big J. B. got hold of the second ball pitched and tagged for a home run, only catch in the right field. Final score, Lac la Biche 4, Amber Valley 0.

Game 5:

Boyle vs. Wandering River

Wandering River appeared to have this one right in the bag, when Boyle came through with a series of hits that gave them the lead of 5 to 4. In the final inning the game was tied six-all and two extra innings had to be played to decide the winner, Boyle coming through with that extra run. Final score, Boyle 7, Wandering River 6.

Boyle vs. Lac la Biche
(The final game for first money)

After a rather shaky start, Lac la Biche tied Boyle at three runs at the end of the third inning and neither team was able to push another run across thereafter until the game was called on account of darkness by the umpire. The game was declared a tie, and first money was split between Boyle and Lac la Biche. Each team received $150.00.

Use Your Head!

The judge had given his decision on a case and the attorney for the plaintiff rose and questioned it.

"I cannot allow you to reopen this case after I have given my decision," said the judge.

"Then I may as well sit down, Your Honor," replied the lawyer. "There's no use in knocking my head against a stone wall."

"I know there's no use in knocking your head against a stone wall," said the judge. "But I don't know any other person who could perform the operation with less personal injury than yourself."

Adaptable

Officer: "What did you do in civilian life?"

Draftee: Oh, I mowed lawns, shod horses, taught school, milked cows, mixed concrete, laid bricks, felled timber, dug coal, dug ditches, painted houses, sailed ships, grew oranges, cut hair, washed windows, shot rabbits, sawed wood, drove cars, made shoes, waxed floors, picked cotton, set type, played saxophones, sold insurance, baked bread and built barns."

Officer: "Oh well, I guess we'll be able to fit you in somewhere."

Still Big Liberal Majority

Much more than is warranted by the results is being made, by opposition parties in the country, of the Progressive Conservative victories in the recent by-elections in Quebec, New Brunswick and Ontario. It is just a customary game of politics for the Tories to claim the victories they have achieved are an indication of a country-wide trend away from Liberal support. The party under Mr. Drew have a long way to go yet before reaching any concrete and convincing demonstration that it has secured enough support to win a federal general election.

There are many reasons why in these isolated instances there should be a shifting of the vote from the government's support to the opposition. Undoubtedly the unavoidable steps the government has had to make in tightening some controls, and the high cost of administration and taxation, no higher than is necessary, however, had a large influence in the results, but who is there who cannot remember cases in the past where the government in power has had reverses in the provinces in by-elections, after having been in power some time? Tory governments no less than Liberal governments at Ottawa have met reverses in by-elections and have never admitted they were an indication of a general loss of support in the country.

The present government at Ottawa has no need to tremble in its shoes because of these election defeats, disappointing though they may have been in some sense; there is still in parliament an overall majority behind the government of 105 in a house of 261 members. The results will be no barrier to the government in carrying out its program.

Despite all the loud cheering and political thundering the Tories are making over the situation, there is ample evidence they are not anxious to have a general election on their hands for the present. They are unready, as is usual with them, and they have no reliable evidence yet that if an appeal to the country was made before another year, they would make any better showing than in the last federal vote.

The present ballyhoo over the by-elections is just so much political party manoeuvring and propaganda, in order to make as much as possible out of the situation, and there is so little to be made out of it that the Tory machine will quietly drop back again into its customary hum-drum music shortly.

There is nothing in the recent by-election results, disappointing though they may be to the prime minister and his party supporters, to justify a general election being called at the present time or in the near future.

Not Just His Own Money Back

An Ontario newspaper says "taxpayers should realize that when the government hands out anything you're only getting your own money back." We protest against statements like that because they leave the impression that "you," an individual taxpayer, get back in social welfare services only what "you" have contributed.

The fact is, of course, that an individual may get back much more than he has paid—or much less. The reason for that is that taxes are collected from individuals under one set of provisos—the incomes they have, the goods they buy, and so on. They are also collected from corporations. But taxes are distributed in welfare services to individuals on an entirely different basis, the basis of age, in some instances; number of young children in the family, and so on. Moreover, the welfare payments are derived in part from corporation taxes.

The poor struggling chap who is able to clothe and feed and educate his family more adequately because of family allowances knows very well that he is not only "getting his money back." The principle of social welfare payments is taxation on one basis and redistribution of taxes on another in order to help those who need help.

Can a Third Party Win?

The people of Alberta are nearing a demonstration of "history repeating itself." In politics the invariable rule has been for the strong party long in power, to defeat itself in the long run. And another rule that has prevailed in Canadian politics is that new, or third parties, seldom become permanent fixtures in the national life. Years before he died, MacKenzie King said: "I have seen several third parties rise and fall in my lifetime."

Today, in Alberta, the political scene is slowly changing, not with any revolutionary development of transitory opportunism, such as was witnessed in the Social Credit eruption of 1935, but with a change arising from the bottom up and from the centre outward, a solid dependable change for the better.

It has long been predicted that if ever the Social Credit government is to meet defeat in Alberta, it will begin from within. And that is just what seems to be happening now. Two Social Credit candidates will contest the Lac Ste Anne constituency seat, now occupied by Mr. Bourcier: himself, and an "Official" candidate, both of them Social Creditors, one a Douglasite and the other a Manningite.

The sitting member in St. Paul was ousted at the nominating convention. The Banff-Cochrane member has been at odds with Mr. Manning for a long time. And because Hon. Earl Ansley associated himself with these excommunicated Social Creditors he has been read out of the caucus.

Alberta's third party has won consistently since 1935. Can it keep on winning indefinitely?

1952 Crop Report

Following recent heavy rains, the crop outlook in Alberta has seldom been better. According to the Alberta Wheat Pool crop report, crops are well advanced for this time of the year and both surface and subsoil moisture are in good supply.

The Pool places, the numerical condition of wheat and oats at 97 and barley at 98, the same as last week.

Last month's rain brought more than an inch of moisture to most districts with a number of points along the western side of the province receiving over three inches of precipitation.

Only the southeastern corner of the province missed the heavy rain but it received fairly good showers. Further rain will be needed before long in this region.

Flying To The Moon

Men's first flight to the moon isn't going to be as easy as some of the comic book writers and others have led us to believe, according to Dr. Clayton S. White, research director of the Lovelace Clinic in Albuquerque, N.M.

The doctor points out that oxygen begins to run out at about 10 thousand feet, and there isn't any at all above 60 thousand feet. In addition, at 22 thousand feet the barometric pressure is down to a point that decompression sickness affects the pilot's blood and lungs.

Also at about 60 thousand feet there is a poisonous concentration of ozone, and above that is intensive ultraviolet light. And, of course, Dr. White calls attention to the fact that once the pilot leaves the earth's atmosphere, he must look out for speeding meteors and other flying bodies.

But the research director agrees that getting a rocket ship into the upper atmosphere is feasible!

Building Trades Pricing Themselves Out of the Housing Market

(The Canadian Statesman)

Thanks to a high degree of organization, and of a leadership almost totally unconcerned with the public interest, the building trades have virtually priced themselves out of the housing market. As a consequence of high wages and a very low order of productivity housing costs have sky-rocketed, with the result that only about half as many houses will be started this year as were started in 1951.

Moreover, few of such houses as are built this year will be built for rent, since their high cost would necessitate an economic rental far in excess of what the average worker would, should, or in many cases could pay.

Because the wage and work policies of the construction mechanics have put housing beyond the reach of the average citizen there arises periodically a demand that "low-cost rental housing units" be provided by the State. One wonders what the term "low-cost" means in this connection. At current prices of labor and of housing materials the construction of any housing units cannot possibly be described as "low-cost." Presumably, then, the term "low-cost" is designed to describe the level of rents.

In other words, the State is expected to put up housing units which must be costly under today's conditions and then to rent them to "the People." But what people? How, in the current climate of opinion, can a means test be developed? How, without a means test, can the high-cost low-rent housing be honestly distributed?

Or will political pull, or bribery, or other favoritism become the basis for selection?

What the advocates of "low-cost rental housing units" are really demanding is that the State subsidize the highly organized and monopolistic construction worker, leaving him to enjoy his current inordinate wages whatever the state of the housing market. In other words, when the consumer decides he can not or will not pay the price of housing demanded by organized labor, the State will help not the consumer but the high-priced union workman. Further, the State will do this by penalizing the low-paid worker through taxes, since only by means of taxes can the State raise the money necessary to support the monopolistic union worker in the style to which he has become accustomed.

Ours is supposed to be an economy ruled by the law of supply and demand operating through the price mechanism. If the State does not permit the price mechanism to work when it would be to the benefit of the bulk of consumers, the State is helping to maintain a form of monopoly. It is also playing favorites in what is supposed to be a classless society.

Housing may be as short as the advocates of State-supplied "low-cost rental housing" declare. But the over-all situation will not be helped by throwing a greater tax burden upon the people of Canada as a whole, particularly at this juncture, in order that building mechanics can ride in their automobiles while their prospective customers ride street cars or use shank's pony.

Voice of the People

WATCH THAT MAN!

It often happens that at a political convention, for reasons that are not apparent to an observer, make surprising decisions which may change the election results and even affect the prospects of the party.

At the recent Liberal Convention in the Constituency of St. Paul Mr. J. R. Sweeney, former deputy Minister of Agriculture was the loser by a small margin but he made a lasting impression on the convention. With no previous experience in active politics he was able to draw upon his rich background of administrative experience in the public service to deliver an address which marked him as a man of wide knowledge of Provincial affairs. His speech was the kind which wins elections and his gifts as a speaker fit him to be an able advocate for the agricultural industry and the People of rural Alberta.

The man who placed Mr. Sweeney's Name in Nomination made a few statements that were worth notice by the Liberal party. He said, "The man I nominate has unusual qualifications to be a member of the Legislature and I believe he will be a great asset to the Liberal Party," and "He may be the discovery of the party in this Campaign." These views will be shared by a large number of people who value ability, experience, integrity, and sincerity in public life. Our guess is that J. R. Sweeney is destined for a place in the front ranks of the Liberal Party and we say "WATCH THAT MAN SWEENEY."

THE WAR IN KOREA

In May, 1950, under the supervision of Army and Police, Dr. Syngman Rhee, President of the Republic of South Korea held an election which resulted in a crushing defeat for his party. (48 seats with 162 opposed).

Despite the constitutional vote, Dr. Rhee still clings to office in open defiance of the result. Why did this important information not appear in the Alberta papers?

RAPS A.G.T.

What a joke our long distance telephone service is in Alberta. First you place your call, and are told, "We will call you." You wait the usual twenty minutes and still no call. Recently I placed a call, and called the operator five times, each twenty minutes apart and each time told "We will call you back". What I would like to know, Mr. Editor is, have the Alberta Government any management at all in this department? What is wrong with many of our small towns in the province that they can't get telephone service after eight o'clock at night? With the wealth this province can boast of, surely some of this money can be returned to the people in better telephone services.

Mr. Swinarton said that $15,000 would be spent for scholarships this year and would be double this in future years. In this program, financial assistance would go to students who would otherwise be deprived of further education.

This scholarship is not confined to university courses, but will be granted to those wishing to take dress-making or to go into the fields of agriculture, oil, forestry or other vocations.

The inaugural scholarships being awarded this year, of which there are 30, will be given as follows: five to Edmonton, valued at $250 and five to Calgary, valued at $250. Twenty will go throughout the province outside these cities, with a value of $500.

If Calgary winners cannot get their first year course at the Calgary University Branch, the scholarship will then be $500 each.

The first AHA Scholarships will be awarded after the release of Grade XII examinations. This year the scholarships will be tenable at the University of Alberta, but will not be the policy for future years. Awarding will be based on scholastic attainment and financial need.

The reason scholarships are tenable at the University of Alberta is because Mr. Swinarton became ill for a lengthy period, thus putting in arrears, several months of planning this program. The association plans in future years to place in high schools technical schools and other training institutions, a good portion of these scholarships.

It is an immense advantage never to have said a thing.

The Swarming Season

Beekeepers are advised by W. G. leMaistre, Provincial Apiarist, to watch their colonies very closely between now and the middle of July. Honey bee colonies have become very full of bees during the recent favorable weather, and while this situation is desirable it does present a problem.

When a colony becomes crowded it often develops swarming fever.

The bees build queen cells and a large proportion of them leave the hive with the queen. Usually this happens when the beekeeper is absent, and he cannot retrieve them. This swarming so depletes the colony that there are not enough bees left to gather a good honey crop.

Colonies that seem to be crowded, particularly in the brood nest, should be given empty combs or foundation, says Mr. leMaistre. If queen cells are found they should be destroyed. Hives that have queen cells should be examined every nine days. For those hives not building queen cells less frequent examination is required.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I am a widow with two daughters, one of whom is single and the other married. I am an invalid, having had an operation several years ago which keeps me from being able to do any work at all.

The children were small when my husband died and I supported them and had them educated. Now they are both very fond of me and grateful for what I did but, unfortunately, my married daughter expressed her thanks with words and nothing else.

Her husband makes a good salary and they never seem to do without anything they want, but she lets my other daughter bear all of my expenses, while she goes into all this rigamarole of how hard up she and her husband are and how she would love to help take care of me, if they were able. If they denied themselves anything they really wanted, these hard up stories might make sense but they don't.

Should I tell them what I think or should I ask my single daughter to do so?

MOTHER.

Answer:

There are always selfish people, who will make a goat of one member of the family if they can and your married daughter is evidently one of these. She probably rationalizes and fools herself that she is perfectly right in acting as she does. She simply has to have this and her husband can't do without that. Then she probably figures that her single sister doesn't have to keep up with the swanky friends she and her husband have.

Of course it never occurs to her that her sister would like to do the things she does, take the trips they have taken and have a car, as nice as their's, if she didn't have to pay for the food and care of her mother.

Your un-married daughter should tell her sister that she cannot undertake all of your expenses and that sister will have to accept her share of responsibility in this matter. She can either have you in her home for six months of each year or contribute enough each month for her part.

While it may mean some sacrifices on her part right now, she has only to look back over the years and she will recall the many pleasures and conveniences you gave up in order that she might become a nicely reared and educated young woman.

It will be better, I think, if your daughter talks to her sister, when you are not present.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

Do you think a child two years of age is old enough to be sent to Sunday School?

GRANDMOTHER.

Answer:

If your Sunday School is organized to take care of children that age and she is happy to be there, it is perfectly all right to send her.

LOUISA.

It would

It would take a prodigal son, indeed, to expect a fatted calf these days.—Jackson Sun.

Baby Barry Smith Takes First Prize

FREEDOM — Despite the wet weather, the Barrhead baby show proved to be a huge success, with 62 baby entries. Special congratulations go to Barry Edward Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith Jr., of Freedom, who took first prize in the 13 to 18 month class. Last year Barry took first prize in the 1 to 6 months' class. Congratulations also go to Linda and Lorraine Schneider, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. Schneider of Freedom, who took the prize in the twin entry.

We see all the farmers along the highway moving their fences back in readiness for the road builders.

The next meeting of the Farmers' Union No. 317 will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Anderson on July 8th. The ice cream that was left over from the picnic will be devoured that night, so bring a little family and eat ice cream till the cows come home.

Week-end visitors were Wilmer Carlson, Marie, Jack and Bob Wright, and Max Hauch.

A ball game was played at Freedom on Wednesday against Barrhead Seniors, with Freedom losing out to a score of 10-6. During the sixth inning of this game a runner collided with Freedom's third baseman, causing him to be sent to the hospital for three days with a dislocated shoulder. Freedom won against Mellowdale on Sunday, the score again being 10-6.

A community meeting was held at the hall Sunday evening.

Annual Deanery Meeting Held

BOYLE — The Annual Deanery meeting of Anglican W.A.'s was held at Boyle on June 26 with a good representation from all branches present. The meeting was opened with Archdeacon Humphries officiating at the celebration of Holy Communion. The business meeting was called to order by the Deanery President, Mrs. W. A. Minns of South Athabasca. Annual reports of each branch of the Deanery were given. At the election of officers both the president, Mrs. Minns, and the secretary, Mrs. S. Alexander of Boyle, were returned for another term.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Naintas, from High River, gave a talk on the works of the W.A.

and how the money raised by these groups was spent. She went on with an inspirational talk on the spirit that should exist in each group.

The president of St. Mark's W. A. invited the deanery to meet at their church for 1953.

Tea was served by the Boyle ladies after the business meeting adjourned.

St. Mark's (Plum Lake) W.A. are planning a Garden Party to be held on the church grounds on July 10. There will be tea served and there will also be a table of home baking.

Liberals To Hold Nominating Convention Monday, July 14th

LAC LA BICHE—To date, only one party has chosen a candidate in the forthcoming Provincial election for this constituency. The Social Credit party has nominated Harry Lobay, MLA, who for the past four years has represented Beaver River, the old constituency, in the Alberta legislature.

The new constituency of Lac la Biche is made up of the northern part of what was formerly Beaver River and the far north-eastern section of the old constituency of Athabasca. Principal towns in the new riding are Lac la Biche, McMurray, Waterways and the districts of Grassland, Wandering River and Fort Chipewyan.

Monday, July 14, has been chosen by the Liberals to hold a nominating convention in Lac la Biche. J. Harper Prowse, MLA, leader in Alberta of the Liberal party, will be the principal speaker.

Mr. Lobay has announced that he will be holding meetings during the week of July 14th to 31st at Lac la Biche and several district points. During that week he will have a special film to show at meetings to be held in Lac la Biche, Rich Lake, Craigend, Grassland, Plamondon, Wandering River, Prosperity, and perhaps in Edmonton and is not likely to be a contender in the 1952 race.

To date there has been no indication of activity on behalf of the CCF. In the last provincial election John Hannechko ran on the Socialist ticket, unsuccessfully. Mr. Hannechko now lives 61.6 per cent of Canadians are urban dwellers and 38.4 per cent are rural dwellers. In 1901 the percentages were almost exactly reversed.
